

Monday 14th March 2022

Whilst it has been lovely this week to see the sunshine allowing students to enjoy rather than endure being outside there has obviously been a cloud hanging over all of us these last few weeks.

I am incredibly proud of the way our students have responded to the request for donations and we have been absolutely inundated with donations which we hope to take over to the haulage firm later this week. Our students have been sorting the donations into boxes of medicines, foods, blankets and a variety of other categories. Incredibly our original plan to use the minibus to take the boxes will now need to be revised due to the amount of donations received. A fantastic effort by all members of our community.

Our assembly this week for all students is on Kindness and longevity and there are a number of initiatives running in school at the moment which will give students the opportunity to demonstrate their compassion and kindness for others, to live out our motto of treating others as you wish to be treated.

These include the work for the Green Week and wider the Green Team to encourage students to act in a way to look after our environment and therefore each other, the appeal for the Ukraine crisis as well as the Big Hoot activities which are helping to raise money for St. Elizabeth's Hospice. As ever our students (and families) have responded with real generosity and importantly this isn't just about money or donations it is about time and generosity of spirit to look after everyone even those we don't know.

With warmest wishes

Simon Martin
