This week sees our Year 11 students sit their Mock Examinations. This is the first time for a long while that we have had students in the hall sitting examinations. The Mocks are an important way for staff and students to see where students are, and what needs to be worked on over the next few months. It is also an important opportunity for students to acclimatise to sitting examinations in the hall ready for next summer. The students have been working hard in preparation for the exams which last for 8 school days. We have welcomed Kate Rosten as a new parent governor this week, I am sure that Kate will bring much to our school and provide challenge and support for the school over the next few years. My thanks to Kate for stepping into this role.

To build upon our House Challenges, this week sees Year 7 take part in the Geography challenge as I said last week the House Competition is very close between all 5 houses and this is another opportunity for students to win points for their houses. The weekly House quiz which takes place every Friday is below if any parents would like to challenge themselves!

With warmest wishes

Simon Martin
